The American Psychiatric Association Practice Guideline for the Pharmacological Treatment of Patients With Alcohol Use Disorder
American Psychiatric Association,2018-01-11 Alcohol use disorder AUD is a major public health problem in the United States The estimated 12 month and lifetime prevalence values for AUD are 13.9% and 29.1% respectively with approximately half of individuals with lifetime AUD having a severe disorder AUD and its sequelae also account for significant excess mortality and cost the United States more than 200 billion annually Despite its high prevalence and numerous negative consequences AUD remains undertreated In fact fewer than 1 in 10 individuals in the United States with a 12 month diagnosis of AUD receive any treatment Nevertheless effective and evidence based interventions are available and treatment is associated with reductions in the risk of relapse and AUD associated mortality The American Psychiatric Association Practice Guideline for the Pharmacological Treatment of Patients With Alcohol Use Disorder seeks to reduce these substantial psychosocial and public health consequences of AUD for millions of affected individuals The guideline focuses specifically on evidence based pharmacological treatments for AUD in outpatient settings and includes additional information on assessment and treatment planning which are an integral part of using pharmacotherapy to treat AUD In addition to reviewing the available evidence on the use of AUD pharmacotherapy the guideline offers clear concise and actionable recommendation statements each of which is given a rating that reflects the level of confidence that potential benefits of an intervention outweigh potential harms The guideline provides guidance on implementing these recommendations into clinical practice with the goal of improving quality of care and treatment outcomes of AUD

How Tobacco Smoke Causes Disease United States. Public Health Service. Office of the Surgeon General,2010 This report considers the biological and behavioral mechanisms that may underlie the pathogenicity of tobacco smoke Many Surgeon General's reports have considered research findings on mechanisms in assessing the biological plausibility of associations observed in epidemiologic studies Mechanisms of disease are important because they may provide plausibility which is one of the guideline criteria for assessing evidence on causation This report specifically reviews the evidence on the potential mechanisms by which smoking causes diseases and considers whether a mechanism is likely to be operative in the production of human disease by tobacco smoke This evidence is relevant to understanding how smoking causes disease to identifying those who may be particularly susceptible and to assessing the potential risks of tobacco products
