Diagnosis in Otorhinolaryngology T. Metin Önerci,2009-09-29 In preparing the material for this book I took the advice of my students who generously shared their views and opinions with me I was told that it would be preferable to have images of the various diseases with legends describing the disease Students would be able to learn and retain the information more successfully if the material was accompanied by pictures and schematic drawings Recent advances in technology have made it possible to photograph regions that are difficult to view with the naked eye such as the ear nose throat nasopharynx and larynx all the areas of otorhinolaryngology Such an illustrated text in this field is important and necessary for teaching purposes In this book I tried to compile images of the basic conditions that are commonly seen in general practice and to give the reader a visual survey with a brief description of the condition I added tables and schematic drawings in order to provide practical information It is not the purpose of this book to be a comprehensive textbook since many textbooks are already available with more detailed information of the conditions illustrated here This book is primarily intended for medical students family and general practitioners and ENT trainees It may also serve as basic reading material for those in allied specialties I hope my colleagues find this book useful and it contributes toward their teaching purposes

New Surgical Technique in Managing Osteoradionecrosis of the External Auditory Canal Paula Coyle, 2017
New Surgical Technique in managing Osteoradionecrosis of the External Auditory Canal
P Coyle E Bhargava B Wong A Qayyum
Background Osteoradionecrosis of the external auditory canal EAC is rare but well documented complication after radiotherapy treatment for head and neck cancers
Objectives To present a new surgical technique used in five patients with chronically discharging ears after ipsilateral radiotherapy All had been treated conservatively with microsuction and topical antibiotics
Methods Intraoperatively skin and bone were debrided until healthy and bleeding A small full thickness skin graft harvested from the contralateral non radiated neck was overlain Where possible the graft was sutured to skin and BIPP packed inside the EAC later removed in clinic
Results All five grafts healed well and all symptoms resolved Healing occurred without stenosis
Conclusion Different local rotational flaps 1 and pedicled flaps 2 3 4 are described in the literature to surgically manage this complication Skin grafts are used for other EAC pathology but to our knowledge this is the first time it has been used for osteoradionecrosis
